LPP Nationalization Bill Passed by 89-83 Vote At 4th Model Parliament

Liberal Amendment Defeated As McGill Socialization Upheld

The fourth session of McGill's Model Parliament saw 89 votes cast in favor of the nationalization of McGill University as against 83 dissenting votes. Supporting the Labor Progressive Party government in favor of their bill was the C.C.F., while the Liberals and Conservatives almost unanimously opposed the resolution.

Main amendment proposed by the Liberal Party was defeated by a vote of 98-79. The amendment expressed the desire to leave education in the hands of the Government, with some modifications—the formation of a national system of scholarships on the principles of the DVA educational allowances.

EDUCATION FOR ALL

William Ornstein, government minister of education, in introducing the resolution, pointed out the deficiencies of the present university organization. He indicated that the board of governors was representative of big business including on it 18 financiers and leading industrialists and three educators. Due to the present high fees, financial discrimination prevents the greater majority of young people otherwise qualified from getting a higher education. This, he pointed out, was the most widespread form of discrimination, not to mention others that exist at McGill.

Closing off the debate for the government, John Switzman, Prime Minister, stated that the passing of the bill provides for a higher education for all who have the scholastic standing; and would mean that for the first time, it would be providing for all the people, not only for the rich minority.

Further, he continued, the Bill itself is only the beginning in the formulation of the best possible plan for higher education involving the people through the Educators' Conference would ensure that education would be improved and controlled by the people.

Isadore Rosenfeld, Liberal, asked for the support of all, regardless of party affiliation, to defeat the attempt of a self-avowed totalitarian group, to control the thought of the country. He emphasized that there were two phases to the resolution to be considered. First was nationalization; second the nationalization was to be implemented by a Communistic government. "There is no Model Parliament in the University of Moscow", he stated.

Progressive Conservative Ian H. Fraser pointed out the fallacies that existed in the bill, and how it was merely a communistic trap to take away the freedom of choice and liberty by meaningless verbiage. Discrimination would not disappear if the government took over, he stated, it might lead to

Student, Priest Here to Fix French Visit

By AL TUNIS

One French student and a French priest arrived here from France by plane Monday morning to arrange for a visit to this continent of French students and professors sometime next August, it was learned here last night.

The student, Bernard Clerc, is the external department secretary of the French Federation of Catholic Students in Paris, while Father Remlinger was a chaplain to French prisoners during the war. Their host in the city was the University of Montreal, and the men left last night for Quebec City.

The two men are here to arrange a trip to the U.S.A. and Canada for 250 Frenchmen — two-thirds students, and one-third professors. The party would leave France in

Interfaculty Debate at Noon In Ballroom

"Resolved that government employees should be unionized" is the subject of the debate taking place in the union Ballroom at 1 p.m. today, when Arts and Science oppose Commerce.

Upholding the affirmative will be John Oliver and Tom Bird, of Arts and Science, while Eric Colbert and Eric Barry, of Commerce, are opposing them. Ed. Gauthier. President of the Engineering Debating Society, will be chairmen for the event.

The judges officiating are well known in debating and other activities. They are Boris Berbrier, treasurer of the McGill Debating Society, Charlie Butterworth, faculty representative for Commerce, and Bill Tetley, faculty representative for Arts and Science.

Interfaculty debating has often proven to be the source of many promising I.U.D.L. debaters. For this reason, care is taken that every speaker is given a chance to realize and correct any faults.

French Society Ball To Aid Needy Young

Designed to help the unfortunate children of Europe and at the same time to provide entertainment to McGill students, the French Society's Mardi Gras ball will take place on Friday, February 18, in the Union Ballroom.

Proceeds raised from the sale of the $2.00 tickets will be employed to help the suffering of French youngsters, it was stated.

Dance music will be provided by Archie Etienne and his band from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets may be obtained from Nicole Baudelaire, Marie-Claire Kirkland, Pierre Langlois (Comm. II), Michael Sakellaropoulos (Beatty Hall), Emile Colas (Law I) and all members of the French Society Executive. Tickets may also be obtained from the office of Professor Launay, Room 52, Arts Building.

Hughes Cites Social Role Of Education

"There is a real kinship of interest between the student of Education and the student of Sociology," Professor John Hughes told over 30 students yesterday at the fourth open lunch-hour meeting of the McGill Sociological Society.

Born and educated in Wales Prof. Hughes dealt with the topic "Education and Sociology," stressing the role which the family and the community played in education —a role which he termed "more important than the schools."

Prof. Hughes, who has done educational work on three continents —at the Universities of Wales, South Africa and McGill—explained that Education was "the development of the human being within society."

Some of the qualifications for a good teacher were pointed out by Prof. Hughes. Idealism, a sympathy for the young, and above all a sense of humor were necessary. "It is a most delightful, fascinating job" he stated.

"We need the kind of teacher who sees beyond the school walls, into the community and the social group," said the speaker, pointing out that in this way knowledge of sociology was necessary.

There will be a meeting of all veterans interested in the housing situation today from 5-6 in the Union Music Room. The Chairman of the Committee, who is going to outline the activities of the group may be contacted at EL 2343.

IUDL Debates

McGill Debates UN Topic Here, Ottawa Is Host to Other Team

This evening at 8.00 p.m. in the ballroom, Conrad Shatner and Len Beaton will maintain against a debating team from Bishop's College that the "veto power contributes to the efefctive working of the United Nations". Bishop's speakers have been outstanding in the past so that the McGill representatives expect a hard fight. Sherwin Raymond and Rolland Laprairie leave this morning for Ottawa to debate as McGill's travelling team against Ottawa University. Loyola, Queen's, Osgoode Hall, Western and St. Patrick's also debate tonight in this first round of the Inter-University Debating League.

Len Beaton is a well known speaker in Mock Parliaments and is president of McGill's Progressive Conservative Club. Conrad Shatner, a gold Key holder, is the Law representative in the Inter Faculty Debating League and has debated in I.U.D.L. debates before.

Rolland Laprairie, a bilingual Arts II student, has successfully represented McGill in the Montreal Debating League while Sherwin Raymond, another gold key holder, has lost only one debate in the last three years.

The judges for the debate this evening will be Mr. A. S. Dawson, Assistant Development Commissioner of C.P.R., the Rev. Burgoyne, and Henry S. Hall, Esq. Dean of Sir George Williams College, Professor John Dando of the English Department will be Chairman.

Each debater will speak for twenty minutes with the leader of the affirmative having a rebuttal at the end. He may not, however, at that time, introduce any new points, rather, he must devote his time to refuting his opponents remarks

Last year McGill was successful in the Eastern division but in the final meet with St. Patrick was defeated by a margin of one-quarter of one per cent. In that debate McGill lost at home and won at St. Pats, but the extra percentage in the judge's decision happened to be in St. Pat's favor.

Oppose Virginia Debaters

H. M. BANFILL (left) and GERALD CHARNESS (right), the two McGill debaters, who will face a University of Virginia debating team tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Union. Topic of the debate will be: "Resolved, that Communism and Capitalism can exist in harmony together."

Major Production of Club To Be Krasna's 'Dear Ruth'

Norman Krasna's play, "Dear Ruth", will be presented by the Players Club from March 12 to 15, in the Union Ballroom. Thist is the Club's major production of the year and is being directed by Mr. Jack Pinguey, a member of the Cathedral Players Club, who has a great deal of amateur dramatic experience. A special stage is being constructed for the occasion.

The Players Club is organized and operated by students independent of the English department or of any other dramatic associations, and has a record of many successful productions in the course of its twenty-five years of existence. Before the war, four major productions were presented every year. During the war, the production was curtailed to only one play a year. It is hoped however, that in the future, the old schedule of four major plays will be resumed.

This year an effort was made to enlarge the scope of the Players Club by producing one-act plays. The club has already produced three of these, the latest of which was "Command Performance" by J. S. Knapp, produced in the Ballroom on Feb. 4. The plays, directed by students, were chosen in order to give the maximum number of students the opportunity either to act or to help with production.

"Dear Ruth", which was produced last year in New York by Moss Hart, is a light comedy about a

Physiotherapy Laboratory Opening for Men Students

The Physiotherapeutic Treatments laboratory opens officially today for all men students. The lab. is located in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium.

Massages, short-wave diathermy, ultraviolet lamps, electric heat cabinet, all are available to the male students for a price quite within the means of even the $60-bracketeers: 25c for a single treatment, or five treatments for a dollar.

Swedish Dr. A. T. Sandzelius, who holds a practice in Montreal, is in charge of the laboratory. Dr. Sandzelius graduated in physiotherapy in his home country, and from there he came to Canada, where he was for many years on the staff of the Montreal General Hospital, before working with the Students' Health Service.

The Students' Health Service has been responsible for the laboratory so far, but this year an innovation has taken place. The lab now comes under the supervision of the university's Department of Health and Social Medicine, chairman of which is Dr. R. P. Vivian. Dr. Vivian cooperates with Dr. A. S. Lamb, head of the Department of Physical Education, a branch of

Bridge Tournament Is Held Tonight at 8

Sponsored by the McGill Duplicate Bridge Club, a mixed-couple bridge tournament is being hald in the Reading Room of the Union tonight at 8 p.m.

The second of the club's main events this year, the tournament is open to all undergraduate couples and the price of admission had been set at 75c a couple. Many prizes, it is reported, will be presented to the winning teams.

Although contestants were to sign entry lists prior to the day of play, it is expected that couples can enter the contest at the door this evening.

It will be recalled that the Duplicate Bridge Club was the instigator of the first inter-collegiate contest, which Queen's University won.

Campus Capers Program Will Receive Initial Airing Monday from Ballroom

Scheduled for 9 p.m., CJAD; Broadcast Open to Students

The "Campus Capers" radio show will take to the air next Monday between 9:05 and 9:30 p.m. over station CJAD. The show will emanate from the Union Ballroom, it is hoped.

The series will include four broadcasts and will continue next year, according to present plans. The first script will deal with the antics of Buzz Ferrell as he tries to make a date for his book-worm pal Rodney Blair. The script was written by Vernon Quinn, one of the group of script writers who have been working on the broadcasts since last November.

"There are no illegal Jewish live comedy show emanating from an English radio staton in the city and the first time such a venture has been undertaken on the McGill campus. The show will be open to the listening audience with no tickets required for admittance. The doors will open at 8.30 and close at 8.50 sharp.

Music for the show will be provided by Roy Dohn and his Collegians, a unit of fifteen musicians who have been functioning for some time together. All members of the band are McGill students. An interesting note was evident when D'Arcy Shea, composer of the march "There's A Spirit Rising 'Neath the Hill", agreed to the usage of his song, which was featured in the Red and White Revue, as them for the prgoram.

The script writers have been meeting for the past two months and have shown promise for the forthcoming series. Those in charge wish to announce that a special meeting will be held of all script writers in the Board Room at 12 p.m. Ted Root, CJAD announcer, who will supervise the show, will be there to discuss the various as-

Samuel Speaks On Situation In Palestine

BETTY SIGLER

"There are no illegal Jewish immigrants into Palestine, but there are illegal British enactments against Jewish immigration", stated Maurice Samuel, author and lecturer on the Palestinian situation and other aspects of contemporary life, Mr. Samuel lectured to 150 or more McGill students yesterday under the auspices of the Hillel Foundation. His topic was "A Jewish State in Palestine—Sentiment or Necessity?"

The legality of all Jewish entry into Palestine was established by the Balfour Declaration of 1917 which encourages the building of a National Home there, and "not just a hole-in-the-corner" of the country. The speaker went on to say, that under the Labour government, for the first time in 20 years was there not even a group in Commons to uphold the idea of Jewish state.

The periods of heaviest immigration have been marked by an absence of Arab riots, the speaker declared. The Arabs were occupied taking advantage of the attendant general prosperity, and when, later, there were riots against Jewish settlements, the participants had to be recruited from some distance, and did not include the Arab neighbours of the new colonists.

A national State is a necessity because without it Palestine cannot "pay off" economically. She must be able to control fiscal policies, negotiate trade treaties, and look after land and labour problems of a developing country. That the Jews and not the Arabs are the group to do this Mr. Samuel indicated by several comparisons.

Name Bovey Cup Finalists

The preliminary rounds for the Talbot Papineau trophy were held yesterday afternoon in the Union Ballroom as ten students competed for this trophy, awarded by Colonel Bovey for impromptu debating.

The topic under discussion was 'Resolved that the practices of censorship are not consistent with the principles of a free society.' The two finalists who will battle it out for the cup two weeks hence are Winston Mahabir and Conrad Shatner.

Mahabir took the affirmative side of the argument. He maintained that that government is best which governs least. Moreover if this occurs individuals no longer have the right to choose but must follow an unlimited government.

Shatner, one of McGill's IUDL debaters, took the negative stand, averring that there were certain spheres which the radio, press and movies could not and should not delve into, in order that the public would not be treated to the inconsistencies, lies, and slanders which lack of censorship would produce

Judges for the eliminations were Ted Hugessen, Boris Barbrier and Dave Common of the McGill Debating Union executive.

RCAF Plans Air Training For Students

The Royal Canadian Air Force plans to inaugurate a summer training plan for students to train either as pilots or radio navigators starting next summer, it was learned yesterday in a release from R.C.A.F. headquarters. The statement reads as follows:

On June 1, 1947 (approx.) the RCAF will inaugurate its summer training plan whereby selected students will be able to train either as pilots or radio navigators.

The duration of these aircrew courses will be one year and they will be completed over a period of 3 years by training 14 weeks per summer season.

The following general qualifications are required of students undertaking the training plan.

(a) They must be unmarried.

(b) They must have attained their eighteenth, but not their 22nd birthday, on commencement of training, and they must expect to graduate in the spring following the third year of summer training. This age limit is extended for veterans by the number of years of service during World War II.

(c) They must be Canadian citizens or British subjects.

(d) They must be medically fit acording to RCAF standards.

Candidates selected for aircrew training will be chosen from undergraduates in any course leading to a degree. Preference will be given to students of Pure and Applied Science courses.

IRC Plans Meeting at 5 Tomorrow

In announcing the holding of a general meeting of the International Relations Club for tomorrow, Thursday, Feb. 13, between 5 and 6 p.m. in the Union Music Room, the Club's Executive disclose plans for three notheworthy speaker meetings later in the month.

It is expected that the first of these will take the form of a discussions between two professors of the University on a topic of current international interest. At the second, it is anticipated that a world-famous U.N. figure will speak. The third, scheduled for February 28, will be a closed meeting to which only members in good standing will be admitted. The speaker at this meeting will be one of the most significant figures in Canadian public life, Lester B. Pearson, Deputy Minister of External Affairs, former Canadian Ambassador to Washington and Canada's top ranking diplomat.

Part of the provisional agenda for Thursday afternoon's general meeting in the Union will consist of planning for these important program meetings.

Information is to be given also at this general meeting concerning the success of the Executive in establishing liaison with the Canadian Institute of International Affairs (Montreal Branch). This has been accomplished largely through the efforts of Professor Frank Scott. The Branch has allotted ten of the twenty student-memberships they make available to McGill for nomination by the IRC. Censorship

From the "other side of the mountain" comes the disturbing news of the repercussions of cultural immaturity. We refer, of course, to the recent action of the Quebec Censorship Bureau in refusing the showing of a French film at a "gala" celebration of the University of Montreal.

The film in question, "Les Enfants du Paradis," is a prize film which was produced in France, and which has been the subject of unanimous praise in all the countries in which it was shown. University of Montreal students asked the French government to allow them to show the film at their annual gala celebration. Acknowledging the request, the French government flew the film to Canada, instructing the French cultural counsellor here to make the official presentation.

The Quebec Censorship Bureau, however, put a stop to all this initiative by judging the film as undesirable for Quebec consumption, despite the fact that it was to be shown on a non-commercial basis, and before a gathering of mature university students. The reason given was that in the film, one of the characters who commits a crime is not punished for his wrongdoing.

Aside from the unfortunate diplomatic repercussion which appears to have ensued—the French Counsellor left the gathering before the substitute film was shown, with the attitude that the Censorship Bureau's action constituted a slight to his country—the whole principle of this type of censorship is subject to a great deal of criticism.

Narrow-minded philosophies are unmistakably the guiding factor behind the type of censorship which tends to suppress films, literature, and other admitted works of art under the pretext of banishing "distasteful" moral issues.

And the fact that these "philosophers" have seen fit to assume our University of Montreal fellow-students as too unstable to witness what they consider a breach of the "grand" moral issues which they have set as a basis for their censorship regulations—this fact leads one to regard the move with even greater skepticism.

In our society, we hold a certain degree of censorship for the young and the mentally unstable to be desirable, providing it be done on an intellectual, broad-minded basis. But to relegate university students to this category is to deny us the right to attain a full, broad, unbiased and complete education.

Mots Cuits
... by Ptolemy

WE HAVE FOUND at least one other poet of McGill. According to some of the critics of modern poetry, he will fall bodily into the old and decadent school of the early thirties. We will, however, reserve our judgment for more rational moments of reflection. His work is well represented in the following descriptive lines. Note his effective use of the unpoetic for emphasis:

Lines writ whilst watching a steamer loading rubber goods for Europe. Pier 7.

On the Brink of the Stink

Turbid, turgid, slimy water
eddying mazily
insatiable now engulfing all, dirt-filled, ill-scented, oozy water.
lazily
an evil slurp! Choking out life.

But here and there
with munificent burp!
disgorging Death. —HBG.

As we said note the influence of the anti-poetic . . . this might be a master-piece of such.

IN RESPONSE TO countless requests for more and more of the perennial 'Bombo Song', we give you the seventeenth verse from Book The First, of this modern epic:

Bouncing down
the flouncing road
they out-bounce fleep
they out-bounce toad
They aren't, I grant you, otherwise brilliant
But their pedal equipment is unquestionably resilient. —OCM.

Note: A Fleep is a species of frog mutated during pregnancy by the sudden expediency of being chased by an adult jeep.

NOW THAT THE AWFUL truth is out, we turn to you, dear readers, in sympathy. Terse Verse must go! The hum and haw of the situation has come to a lusty head, which is deserving of a scotching stick.

However, in the manner of the venerable Mahatma, a policy of passive resistance might have effects more dire. And thusly, we tell of a sad, sad tale:

Two twins there were once of Siam,
Who were caught in a plot—grinding ham.
They were meagre and eagre,
O teddibly eager.
And now to be terse in a redandwhite hearse
Is AshleyandAron—canned spam.

We rest our case!

Time and Tide

It was a welcome change to find a Musician on the podium of the orchestra of Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal. It was a relief from a succession of conductors whose lack of musical knowledge was made up for by shocks of long grey hair or manufactured limps. It would seem that this organization's empressario has at last realized that a conductor's musical worth is not by any manner of means indicated by his bobbysox appeal.

Charles Muench, the conductor of the Paris Conservatory Orchestra, is an outstanding example of a man who allows his great musicianship to speak for itself—without any of these artificial aids to public recognition. To see and hear him conduct the Montreal orchestra at a pre-concert rehearsal was more than ample proof or his musicianship.

His conducting of the Berlioz Symphonie Fantastique showed true and great understanding he has of the music before him, and of his ability to get his musicians to play for him as he wishes. Always following the score before him with extreme care, he coaxed, cajoled and bullied the orchestra into playing according to the dictates of his interpretation. But always there was humour and understanding in his handling of the orchestra members. He was quick to appreciate good work and his radiant personality and his willingness to forget mistakes as soon as they were corrected soon endeared him to the musicians who really tried hard to please.

In M. Muench's hands the lengthy Berlioz symphony assumed a massive grandeur — it achieved greatness. His explanations of the score to the orchestra were numerous but to the point; one was immediately conscious of the fact that there was drama in the music as well as in the program notes — drama, much finer than the best of the Hitchcock thrillers.

In a short interview after the rehearsal it was discovered that M. Muench's English vocabulary is very limited, in fact one became a little suspicious when he insisted that the local orchestra was "vairy goood". Of American orchestras he had little to say beyond "magnifique", "remarkable" and similar superlatives.

Mr. Muench also added that he was returning to this continent next season. It is up to the listening audience to convince the proper authorities that this great man should and must be heard here again — "immidiately, if not sooner" . . . J.K.S.

Elegy to a Hackneyed Bard

When Sapho tried her hand in poesy,
And wrote on nature's simple themes,
A lowly critic named Ptolemy[1]
Did falsely criticise her dreams.

And filled the Daily with thy swill[2],

O Ptolemy! O Ptolemy! Recant!
Thy poetry has made us mourn.
O Farmer change thy ever bloomin' plant,
And give us Rye instead of corn.

English Literature Society Presents—

McGill is to be greatly honoured this week by the presence of Dr. Lucien Wolfe, principal of Rennes University, and at present visiting professor at Cornell.

Dr. Wolfe taught English Literature at Rennes for twenty years; then he became dean of the faculty of arts. In that capacity, he was arrested by the Germans for resistence activities. After being held as a hostage for a number of months, he was saved in the nick of time by the arrival of the Americans who liberated Rennes. In 1944, he was appointed principal of the university, a position which also entails the responsibility of the direction of public education for the province of Brittany. In this position, he is personally responsible to the minister of education, wields wide financial power, and runs the whole educational system of Brittany.

Now at the age of 69, he is rounding off his career as visiting professor at Cornell, where he is giving a course in Comparative literature and one on the romantic movement through Europe. He is one of the great European authorities on certain aspects of French and English literature, on English Romantic poets—especially Keats—and on the modern novels of Wells and Meredith.

McGill students will have two opportunities to hear Dr. Wolfe while he is in Montreal. On Thursday, February 13 at 5 p.m. Dr. Wolfe will speak in French on "La Jeunesse Francaise" in the RVC Common Room. On Friday, February 14 he will discuss "Political Parties in France Today." This second discourse will be in English, and will be presented at 12 noon in Room 44 of the Arts Building.

All students and their friends are cordially invited to both these meetings to hear a great and renowned man.

"A RHAPSODY OF SKIING"

On Monday, Feb. 17, from 5.05 till 6.30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, the M.O.C. will present Hans Thorner's $50,000 sound production, "A Rhapsody of Skiing". This hour and twenty minute feature, the result of the work of eight cameramen and staff, was filmed on four locations in the beautiful Rockies and Swiss Alps. 50,000 feet of film were used to record the superb skiing techniques of Rominger, Dick Movitz, Barney McLean, Hans Thorner, Peggy Taylor, and many top-ranking Swiss pros. Narration is in the experienced hands of Lowell Thomas and Ted Husing.

Mr. Thorner has recently returned from a tour of the Western States, where his films were shown in many large assembly halls. Carnegie Hall in New York City was also used for a presentation of this production. Moyse Hall, however, "is in almost continuous use day and evening for academic purposes", and could not be secured for this showing to McGill students.

Only 450 tickets will be sold. This is a special non-profit showing to McGill students, and the nominal price of 20 cents will be used to pay part of the expenses. Tickets may be obtained between 12.00 and 2.00 p.m. on Thurs. and Fri. in the Union or the Engineering Building. — B. W.

"THE GENTLE PEOPLE"

"The Gentle People", by Irwin Shaw, will be presented by the Little Theatre group of the W.M.-W.W.H.A. commencing this Saturday, February 15th, in the Y.M.H.A. auditorium, 265 Mount Royal Ave. Tickets $1.13.

Political Comment

CAMPUS ELECTIONS AND PRESSURE GROUPS

There seems to be a hoary and venerable tradition at McGill that campus elections must be conducted with "decorum". Just what this custom implies is not certain, but one undoubtedly widespread inference is that the election campaigns must be carried on "behind the scenes", and that electioneering as practised in the fields of national, provincial and municipal politics is undignified and undesirable.

The consequence of this long-standing opinion is that candidates for election to executive positions on the campus have no opportunity to address student meetings or otherwise to present their views, except for a single statement in the "Daily". This in turn results in the great majority of students having little or no idea of what issues are at stake in the elections; many, in fact, do not know any of the candidates, have but a vague notion of what positions are open for election, and are completely uninterested in the outcome. It is a fact that a large proportion of the student body, even in senior year, has never voted in a campus election.

In the polling for positions on the Student Council last December, less than twenty-five percent of students on the campus voted. The "Daily" has repeatedly run editorials both before and after elections, pleading with the student body and exhorting it to "get behind the Council", to "get out and vote", and asking "Where's that old school spirit?" "What", asks the Daily again and again, "is the matter with Old McGill?"

At the risk of appearing extremely gauche, I would like to answer this purely rhetorical question. The matter with Old McGill, insofar as campus elections are concerned, is that our conception of this democratic vote is about as democratic as the Holy Roman Empire.

The idea of holding an election without campaigning and electioneering is too ridiculous to bear comment. The assumption that nominees for office must not solicit the votes of the electorate, in every possible manner compatible with honesty and decency, is a most patent contradiction to the spirit of free elections; and the result of such an assumption — apathy and disinterest on the part of the electors—is a defeat of the democratic ideal.

We at McGill can have truly representative elections in the Students' Society only if we are prepared to adopt the prerequisites of such elections—stimulation of general interest by open campaigning and speeches by candidates. The contention that such practices are "ungentlemanly" is at best a juvenile approach to political life; and the idea that such a system would lead to "pressure-group" activities on the campus is rendered invalid by the conspicuous fact that pressure groups of any kind function best when the majority of voters fail to vote—as at present.

In an editorial of December 10th, entitled "Whither the Wind?", the Daily hopes that "We may suddenly see the light and realize the importance of elections". There is small hope of such a miracle, so long as illogical customs smother the means by which it could be achieved. The hustings are still an indispensable part of democratic elections. If we are to attain to adult status on the campus, the hustings must come to McGill.

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill Daily,

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the McGill Staff Christian Association, I would like to express my thanks to the members of the McGill Choral Society and the Scarlet Key Society, and also to the Janitor Staff of the Arts Building for the help and assistance which they gave to the Meeting for Major Foote, V.C., on Sunday last. Their assistance was very deeply appreciated.

Yours sincerely,
C. P. MARTIN,
Professor of Anatomy.

Ed. Note: If Mr. C. I. Vadit wishes his letter to be published in this column, will he please come to the Daily Office and sign his name to it.

The Editor, McGill Daily

Dear Sir—The report of Dr. Hall's speech to the Canadian Club would indicate that it was in the best tradition of the educator. Although a full report has not, as yet, been given in any of Montreal's daily papers, it was disappointing that at least as much of it as appeared in today's Gazette was not included in your paper.

What could be more applicable to our University than:

"There has been a tremendous spree of building and of adding new faculties with the result that Professors, Deans, and Presidents are no longer teachers, but executive officers. These men should be producing creative ideas and not raising money, building buildings or planning new curricula."

A university should be judged by its contribution to its community and not by the number of its pupils and the size of its buildings. "We should create new universities instead of making the old ones so large that they lose the concept of education. We are not in the competitive business field. We are trying to do a common job".

Good for Dr. Hall!

Truly yours
GORDON KOHL, Law II.

The Daily Meets

BEATRICE PINES

by A.V.

Miss Beatrice Pines, designer of Beatrice Pines, Inc., has made a name for herself in Canadian fashions. The Daily recently reviewed a fashion show in which she exhibited the latest thing in bathing suits. The firm's other speciality is housecoats. The unique factor which distinguishes her fashions from the majority of Canadian-made garments is the "New York look" which all her designs possess in common. But unlike the majority of Canadian designers, her fashions are all original, and each has her distinguishing individual touch. As she says, "In designing, it's the little things that count."

Miss Pines is a young and charming woman, extremely modest about her talent. "There's nothing very romantic about the way I got started", she said apologetically. It seems she started making her own clothes when she was ten or twelve years old, and just kept right on going until she graduated from high school. Then she spent a year in New York, learning the technical side of designing, and returned to Montreal for further work for a large company, before starting out on her own.

We discussed the possibilities for young designers in the Canadian field. They are unlimited, and have barely been tapped. But, Miss Pines emphasized, no one can teach you how to design. It's something you are born with and you either have it, or have not got it at all. You can be taught how to cut patterns, and the more technical part of designing, but you have to have the spark—like any other creative work. She goes to New York half a dozen times a year, and haunts the Costume Institute and other sources of inspiration, and occasionally brings back samples.

Beatrice Pines, it may be fairly said, designs and manufacture the best, and most flattering women's bathing suits in Canada, which, although they retail at fairly high prices, are very much worth it. She takes about four months to assemble ideas and sketches, and to select the best designs, and two months to produce the actual results, and test them. The bathing suits, for instance, must all be tested for the swimming efficiency which they allow the wearer, and for durability in the water. She also designs the fabrics which she uses. One of the smartest swim suits this year is a Peruvian print, straight from the Metropolitan museum, which works up into a really novel number. One of the housecoats uses a Canadian homespun wool, a very fine weave, which is also novel, and extremely refreshing.

The success of Beatrice Pines Inc. points the way to increasing Canadian awareness that our fashions need not necessarily be imported from the United States. Canadian manufacturers and retailers, who formerly demanded the U.S. fashion tag, are beginning to realize that Canadian designers have a great deal on the ball, and young Canadians like Beatrice Pines, no longer have to migrate south of the border, but can stay home, and create styles in Canada.

Rene LeRoy

Wind instrument music lovers enjoyed Monday night the recital of Rene LeRoy, who is often referred to as one of this continent's great flautists. Mr. LeRoy, accompanied by Jean-Marie Beaudet, played a program which consisted mainly of pieces in the standard repertoire of the flute, and in all his

So easy . . . so smooth . . . the epitome of perfection. But observe, if you will, the sad fate of the lady in the background. She thought anyone could skate . . . without practice. She won't be asked again. . . .

It's also a mistake to think that the saving habit can be acquired without practice. It can't. But it is surprising how intelligent money management can be learned by following two simple rules. Good Idea

Queen's Hockey Manager Wants Selection Of All Star Ice Squad

By ALEC MACINTYRE
(Daily Staff Writer)

Jack Carver, Queen's hockey manager, has come up with the proposal that the Intercollegiate Hockey League should have a mythical All-Star squad as do almost all other leagues. The idea isn't particularly new but it might prove to be the publicity shot in the arm that the circuit is badly in need of.

Carver would have the managers of the four teams and the sports editors of the college papers each select a team. From the eight entries a final All-Star selection would be compiled. The selection would be sponsored by a well-known national magazine. This last item may be the toughest stumbling block that Carver will have to face.

McGILL AGREES

There should be no trouble in getting the managers and editors to select teams. At McGill both manager Al Castledine and Norm Wolfe are in favor of the idea and Carver intends to canvass the other colleges concerned.

The strangest part of this proposal is the source for it comes from the manager of the club which is least likely to find a spot on the team. Outside of defenceman Lorne Smith, the Gaels haven't much to offer in the way of All-Star material. Even Smith will have tough opposition from Broderick, Gosselin, Gignac and Kryzanowski.

With only three games left to play it is a little late in the season to get such a scheme underway but Carver is quite serious about it and even if he can't put it across this year he will probably try to get it in full swing by next season.

REDS IN MOVIES

Meanwhile the McGill team will become stars in another department. They are due to show their stuff before the movie cameras some time this week for Grantland Rice's Sport Short which will also feature the NHL Canadiens as an added attraction. The McGillians will play before the cameras on the McTavish rink.

Dave Campbell moved his charges over to Verdun Auditorium yesterday for what may have been the last practice in preparation for the Queen's game in Kingston Friday night.

Dawson Plays Rockland Tonight

Tonight the Dawson Senior cagers will play hosts to Rockland on the St. Johns boys home floor.

Due to unforeseen circumstances The Daily is unable to publish a fuller account of the pre-game advance story.

Bearcats Beat Alkies 7-6 in Floor-Hockey

By BOB USHER

Champlain College, February 11—(By Telephone) — The "Flying Frenchmen" Bearcats showed revamped power last evening in their 3 out of 5 floor hockey series with the Alkies, when the two teams battled it out at Champlain College, the Bearcats taking the game 7 to 6. This contest tied up the series one all, with the Alkies winning the first game four to one.

The star of this game was Fred Hoare of the Flying Frenchmen who scored 4 goals, three of them after the Alkies had pulled ahead into a 6 to 4 lead. Fred, our Mustachioed gentleman supplied most of the power in this game, putting in the winning goal with one min ute and 10 seconds left in the game.

Russ Brochie of the Alkies, the star in last week's game with three goals, turned in another good showing this time with some splendid defence work and one goal. Harry Leazitte also starred for the losers with two markers.

ROUGH GAME

Last night's game, played before a crowd of 200 Champlain students was the first floor hockey match to be played at this American College. Remarks from the coaches and students were varied, the coaches calling it "Splendid", thought it would make an excellent Intramural sport. The students, on the other hand thought it a bit rough as they saw player after player being carried off the floor.

After this game, the Dawson boys engaged in an exhibition tilt with volunteers from Champlain College. The American lads doing very well although the game is very new and novel to them.

Red Seconds Meet Dawson Here Tonight

Dawson Intermediate cagers invade the Currie Gym tonight with the intent of pulling off a win to remain in the running for a playoff spot when they lock horns with Coach Ron Rutherford's McGill Redmen.

The fourth place St. Johns boys will have to bring home the bacon for the old Red and Blue since they are but two points ahead of the Georgians who should break into a rash of wins any day.

Dawson will not be the only opposition that the McGill crew will have to face in the near future. Next Monday they will clash with the last-place Loyola squad which should be easy pickings for the Martlet Men.

THE TEAMS

Spearheading the Redmen will be Bob Beaugrand, Mickey Davine and Lou Lanier who were serious contenders for Senior team spots in pre-season training days. Other boys who know their way around a basketball floor include Ditkofsky, Tommy Elo, Lou Zalkind and Hodge.

The boys from St. Johns will definitely not be pushovers since they will be all out for victory. And cagers like McKinnon, Ramsay, Laing and Brown will probably send coach Holmes' heart leaping with joy.

All in all this battle should amount to quite a battle for all cage followers to see since so much will depend on its outcome.

INTRAMURAL STANDINGS

The compilation of scores including Tennis, Track, Softball, Swimming, Skiing, Fencing and Boxing Meets and tournaments is as follows:

Eng. 273, Arts 208.5, Phy. Ed. 176, Comm. 148.5, Meds. 111.5, Science 96, Law 49, Dents 30, Grads 19, Arch. 16.

There remains Basketball, Volleyball and Hockey to be scored upon completion of the leagues which are still in progress.

Next Athletics Night Planned for March 1

The Athletics night committee announces that the Athletics night scheduled for Feb. 15 has been cancelled and that the next Athletics night will be held on March 1st.

Despite the popularity and great successes of the previous two Athletics night, even bigger and better plans are being formulated for the next one. It has become obvious that these Athletic nights are in great favor with the students who have turned out in droves to attend them.

According to Ed Ballon, capable chairman of the committee, the reason for the cancellation of this week's event was its proximity to the one held two weeks ago, and that the enthusiasm of the students might be strained thereby.

Coed Cagers Win Twin Bill From YWCA

McGill's distaff representatives in cage competition added further honor to the Red banner as they decisively trounced the Y.W.C.A. sextets in MBL play last night. The senior squad ran away from their opponents and ended up on the long end of a 64-28 count while their younger sisters not to be outdone, swamped the Dorchester street aggregation by 44-7.

Leading the seniors on their victory march were Bobby Fenton and Louise Macfarlane with 24 and 18 points respectively. Carrie Brodie with 16 and Babs Kelly with 12 scoring markers to their credit were the big guns in the junior attack.

As the score indicates both games were Red rampages as the Redwomen counted at will and were never in any danger of being headed. In the second contest, the juniors held their opponents to a measly two points in the second half while chalking up 24 on their own behalf.

Big event of the year in coed cage circles is the CIAU round robin tournament in London at the end of this month. The opposition will be provided by the other three members of the big four, Toronto, Western and Queens. The locals excellent record to date makes them strong contenders.

M.O.C. MUMBLINGS

By ROB

Hi there, all youambitious skiers, here's the latest on M.O.C. doings. How would you like to go skiing in Sutton, Quebec? Sutton is in the Eastern townships, forty miles from the American border. The hills there are grand, weather conditions perfect, and there's room for twelve M.O.C. members — six girls and six men (that means you too, Dawson), the weekend of February 22nd.

We can guarantee that a wonderful time will be had by all, but you'd better hurry and make your reservations 'cause there'll be plenty of competition for places. Just call Harold Ames at LAncaster 2088 and get in your bid for a really super weekend!

Communique From Sheaf

Here's a little something for the boys and girls who are a wee bit lonesome for the news and happenings in Dear Olde Blighty and La Belle France.

ON FOOD

From latest reports Australia is sending 26 food ships to British ports. The supplies they are bringing from a country with a total population smaller than that of Greater London include:

Butter—Nearly 15,000,000 lbs.
Cheese—3,333,000 lbs.
Eggs—64,840,000 doz.
Frozen meat—15,759 tons.
Tinned meat—3,301 tons.
Egg pulp—7,437 tons.
Britain's heavy purchases in the Argentine include:
600,000 tons of cattle cake;
100,000 tons of linseed oil;
500,000 tons of sunflower oil.

It is hard to exaggerate how desperate the world's paint manufacturers are in need of this linseed oil, or how badly the dairy farmers in Britain and continental Europe need the 600,000 tons of cattle cake.

GENERAL NEWS

For the members of the W.A.A.F. who married while serving in Germany, the R.A.F. Welfare has provided a specially designed wedding gown of white satin. The gown can be altered to fit almost any figure. A tulle veil goes with it. The authorities are also providing the cake, flowers and cars for the ceremonies.

What to expect in the Montreal theatres may be gauged by current cur of films in London. Alan Ladd is at his toughest in "Calcutta"; Merle Oberon co-stars with George Brent in "Temptation", an adaptation from Robert Hichen's novel "Bella Donna". Margarette Lockwood is in her greatest performance as "Fanny Rosa" in Daphne du Maurier's "Hungry Hill". Watch for these films, they're all "toppers".

ON HUMOUR

A doctor, an architect, and a politican were discussing which belonged to the most ancient profession. Said the doctor: "Eve was made from Adam's rib. That surely involves an operation."

Said the architect: "But before that, order was brought out of chaos. That was an architect's job."

"But ho wabout that chaos?" said the politician, "didn't anyone make that?"

An amusing moment in an otherwise dull Commons came when Col. Walter Elliot, victor of Scottish Universities, took his seat. His three words to the chair were: "Scotland for ever," and above the din piped up the house with: "Ye're hame, Wattie, and ye brose is on the table." — To the uninitiated, brose is brose and parritch is parritch. The ingredients are the same: the difference is in the way it's made.

Redmen to Defend Dartmouth Ski Title at Hanover Carnival

By ANDY HUGHESSON
(Daily Staff Writer)

The McGill Redmen will be the guests of the Dartmouth Blues this week when the journey south to New Hampshire to compete in the annual Winter Carnival held at Hanover.

Included on the starry eight man team that coaches Luggi Foeger and Harry Pangman selected to carry the Red and White colours is Quebec Kandahar champion Don Staniforth, who last year paced McGill to its first Carnival championship in 22 years. Ken Thomas, an Ottawa skier of the Clifford style, John Tyler whom Foeger has developed into a very polished racer, and dependable Art Bruneau round out the slalom and downhill department. Competing in the classical events of jumping and crosscountry will be Karre Olsen and John Foster, both of whom have been crowned champions at Middlebury and Dartmouth as well as Baz Davis and Ted Pope, who replaces injured Bob Tilden.

FLEMING OUT

Selected for a spot on the team was Bruce Fleming who placed fourth in the Baldy meet last weekend. However he is unable to make the trip due to illness and the Redmen were forced to draw on their reserve for a replacement.

The Redmen pull out of Montreal early Thursday and plan to arrive at Hanover in time for a few practice runs on the treacherous Moose Mountain trail in preparation for the downhill which is slated for Friday morning. The Slalom will take place on the afternoon of the same day on Oak Hill with the cross country and jumping events slated for Saturday.

OUTDOOR PAGEANT

Besides the Carnival which is being run by the Dartmouth Outing Club and includes ten of the top college ski teams in the U.S., other events being staged at the college over the weekend include an outdoor pageant, the Dartmouth Players Show, a swimming meet, a hockey game and a formal dance.

Ken Thomas, Dawson's only representative on the team will be called for at St. Johns at 7 a.m. Thursday morning.

Local Cagers Cross Border On Week End

Running for a couple of victories to improve their rather unimpressive record, the Red Cagers embark on another of those below the border suicide trips this weekend. Weather permitting they will tackle the Clarkson Tech. Engineers at Potsdam or Malone on Friday night, and then move over to Canton where they will be entertained by the St. Lawrence College Larries the following evening.

The Redmen have no intentions of presenting any Valentines to the Engineers, come the fourteenth of this month, and will put their hearts into their efforts as they have a serious loss to avenge.

This defeat was handed them last December 7, when the Americans, obviously mistaking the locals for a Jap raiding party, remembered the Fifth Anniversary of Pearl Harbor by administering a 72-47 clobbering.

The locals have had a little better luck with their other weekend opponents this year. However, the last time these two quintets clashed, the Redmen came out on top, but as this happened last season, it forms no basis for comparison, except that the incumbent McGill cage representatives are regarded as superior to their immediate predecessors.

Redmen, Gaels In Shuttle Tilt This Saturday

There will be no badminton tomorrow night (Thursday) at Currie Gymnasium, as the A.C.S. Formal will be in progress, but Friday night has been allotted to mixed badminton, and all nine courts will be available for play.

The Queen's men's badminton team will be in town on Saturday to meet Doug. Grant's McGill aggregation, with the winner slated to proceed to London on Saturday, March 1st, to meet Western University for the Intercollegiate championship.

Five singles and four doubles matches will be played with Queen's. The matches are presently scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Currie Gym., but some of them may be run off at night in conjunction with the boxing-wrestling-judo-dancing, etc.

TEAM UNDECIDED

The make-up of the McGill team has not yet been announced by Coach Doug. Grant. Stew Burris, the star of last year's intercollegiate champions, has been busy with fourth year Medicine and is lost to this year's team and it is not known if Guy MacFarlane, another of last year's team, will be available. However, the basis of a strong team exists in Ron. Dussault, a hold-over from last season, and Gordon Simpson, recently enrolled at Dawson and one of Montreal's most promising young badminton players.

Red Squashmen Will Play Host To Unbeaten Yalemen Saturday

This Saturday afternoon will see McGill cross rackets with the hottest college squash team in the USA. Yale is bringing their nine man squad up from New Haven with un unbeaten resord this season.

John Skillman's boys have gone through seven or eight intercollegiate matches and won them all by scores of 9-0, 8-1 or 7-2. Included among these are Army, 8-1, who defeated the Redmen 4-1 and Dartmouth, 9-0, who McGill just squeezed out 4-3.

This points towards a rough day for our pellet pushers. But should the Bulldogs go on the courts just a little stale, the tide might turn, as each one of the McGill men figures that he is going to win his own individual match. This is the largest team that has yet been fielded by our Crimson Tide and a few new faces will be seen on the Varsity squad.

THE TEAM

Two of these are Al Gillespie and Al Ward, who claims he only plays to take off weight. Ward just beat out Denis Stairs for a place on the team by the narrow margin of 16-14 in the fifth game of a challenge match. The ninth slot is as yet unfilled and remains for the winner of Stairs vs. Terry Todd. The other six places are taken by Pete Landry, Bob Colquhoun, Don Farlinger, Dave Culver, Guy Macfarlane and Andy LeMesurier in that order.

The matches will start in the Currie gym at 2.30 p.m. Saturday and will last until 4.30. Spectator space is free so come along and see the best matches of the year as McGill avoids having that 10-2 hockey defeat avenged.

MANAGERS MEETING

It is imperative that all managers with their complete staffs of assistants attend a meeting tonight in the Lecture room in the Gym at 5 p.m.

The annual report will be explained thoroughly with specific reference to the budget for the year 1947-48 and other matters of importance will be taken up.

All Games Defaulted In Volleyball League

The Intramural Volleyball League got off to a poor start yesterday afternoon as only two teams made their appearance, as a result of which no games were played. The only basketball game scheduled also was not run off as the Comm. IV team defaulted to the first year Fizzeds.

The teams which did not turn out for the Volleyball, also did not inform Larry Sirota, Volleyball manager, of their reasons for not doing so. Should this happen twice more, these teams will be eliminated and prohibited from participating any further in league play. Team managers are urged to notify their protegees of all scheduled games.

Red Oarsmen Meet to Set Summer Plans

The McGill Rowing Club is all set to inaugurate a banner season with a meeting today in the Players Club room in the union at one o'clock. The club has extensive plans for the coming year and all those who are interested in participating are invited to attend this meeting.

In cooperation with the Lachine Rowing Club, the Red Oarsmen share the beautiful clubhouse on the shore Lake St. Louis near the Male Beach dock in Lachine. There, in its capacious locker and boathouse space they spend a good part of the summer indulging in healthful and body building exercise. The rest of the time they are out on the lake rowing.

EXCELLENT COACHING

No experience is required to become an A-1. oarsman in a very short time as excellent coaching is available with superb facilities at their disposal. This sport is a marvelous conditioner and is recommended for those who are interested in building themselves up physically.

The club has extended a special invitation to the residents of Petersen House and to those who live in Lachine as the club house is very handy. It is emphasized that members do not have to be summer students to qualify for the squad.

COMPETITION PLENTIFUL

The Row-Row boys never lack for competition as they usually have a full schedule over the warm months. The Royal Canadian Henley at Ste. Catharines is the most important of these and there the Redmen hope to maintain their winning ways. Last year they captured the Dominion Junior and Intermediate Heavy Four at this regatta.

Further information of a more detailed nature may be had from either Ralph Forbes at WI. 3957 or George Fortier at DO. 2619.

Resolutions Are Passed By N.C.S.V.

In an effort to inform the veteran body of the activities of the recent National conference of student veterans we are submitting the resolutions passed at that conference for publication.

1. The N.C.S.V. wish to express their great appreciation of the facilities and welcome extended by the Board of Governors, the Principal and University of McGill. Our deliberations which have been well attended and most represented have been greatly aided by your kindness in accepting us as your guests during the conference.

2. The N.C.S.V. are most grateful to the Student Executive Council of the University of McGill for their kindness both in making the Union Building available to us and also for the party which was greatly enjoyed by our delegates on Saturday night.

3. The National Conference assembled here wishes to express to those who have provided the arduous background of stenographic work, Mimeographing, registration and Billiting our very great thanks for their work without which the Conference could neither have been assembled nor continued to function.

4. Telegram to NFCUS:-
The National Conference of Student Veterans send warmest greetings and hope that your deliberations may be most profitable.
Chairmen of Convention.

5. That this conference express to the Minister of Veterans Affairs our appreciation for the work done on behalf of all veterans and in particular his sending Mr. Jameson to our convention. Mr. Jameson's work at this convention has been of decided benefit to the conference.

6. As above to the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion with reference to Mr. Anderson.

7. That this conference express at this time its appreciation of the coverage given by press and radio and that in moving this resolution we would pay special tribute to the press committee for their excellent work and sound judgment throughout the conference.

8. Thtat this conference strongly recommend that persons fully dependent on student Veterans be eligible for emergency medical treatment at the Government's expense on the same terms as students themselves.

9. That consideration be given to assisting student veterans, who graduate from approved institutions of learning and who are entering professions which require the possession of necessary instruments and appliances by loans at a miminal rate of interest for the purchase of such essential instruments and appliances with which to practise.

playing he showed a great enthusiasm for the music he had chosen, a feeling too often lacking in those who appear on our concert stages.

Neither M. LeRoy nor his audience was at ease during the opening number, one of the Handel sonatas, and the performance was far from perfect. The quality of the artist's intonation was disturbing to some at first, but one learned that in order to appreciate the positive elements in his performance, one had to ignore the sharp and flat attacks, for obviously the soloist was also doing just that.

Rene LeRoy is a poet on the flute, and in the Gluck Menuet, the movement he chose from the Mozart second concerto, and the unaccompanied Syrinx by Debussy, he amply illustrated his poetic ability. A Frenchman by birth, and a performer in the true French style, LeRoy included a composition by his countryman, Emile Desportes, in "Rone sur des Airs Populaires Francais", a difficult, unevenly moving little piece.

The amazing technique of this flautist was best shown in his closing piece, Faure's Fantasie, the allegro of which he took at a very rapid tempo, making light work of all its difficulties. — D.R.A.

even more and certainly this would be the case with the Communists in power.

Michael Oliver, speaking for the C.C.F., supported the Bill and submitted some constructive criticism. He proposed that the Educators' Conference as mentioned by the LPP should be made permanent.

Students interested in this plan can obtain all necessary information by visiting the McGill COTC mess on Wednesday, Feb. 12, between 1 and 5 p.m., also Thursday, Febr. 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. Preliminary selection will be made by the R.C.A.F. representative during the applicant's visit.

The R.C.A.F. representative will be at Dawson College on Thursday, Feb. 13, between 7 and 10 p.m. to interview students interested in the above training plan.

FIESTA 1947

There will be a general rehearsal of the play "La Puebla de las Mujeres" on Sunday afternoon from 2.00 to 6.00. The place will be announced tomorrow in the Daily. All those taking part in the play are urged to cancel their other engagements and come this Sunday, and every other Sunday, until March 25, with the exception of Sunday, March 2.

situation which arises in a typical Canadian home. The plot centers around a sixteen-year-old girl, Miriam, who writes poetic letters to lonely servicemen overseas, and signs them Ruth, the name of her glamorous older sister. The story is amusing, and provides good entertainment.

Tickets for the play will go on sale towards the end of February in the Union and in the leading music stores. The prices will be fifty cents for students and seventy-five cents for the general public.

Dr. Sandzelius, for many years in charge of the laboratory, now has two ultraviolet lamps at his disposal, compared with only one in previous years. Last year, the lab staff handled successfully the near-800 students who came for a variety of treatments; but it is hoped that an even larger and better equipped local will be available in the projected extension to the Currie Gym building.

The Gym's Physiotherapy lab will be open to men students every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Rehearsals and auditions have been held for the past few weeks and a list of those who are requested to appear Friday night at 5:30 at CKAC studios for further auditions appears on this page. The final cast will be chosen then and further rehearsals will take place on Saturday afternoon and Monday evening prior to actual show time.

The Radio Committee, composed of Dave Townsend, Conrad Shatner, John Piper, Gerald Charness, Hal Dale and Roland Richmond have been working actively on this program and the virtual completion of negotiations culminates two months hard work. In charge of the show itself are Conrad Shatner as producer and Gerald Charness as director while Dave Townsend has been representing the Students' Executive Council.

At various times the Arabs have sent protesting delegations to Britain, to the United States, to the League, to the UN. So have the Jews. But the Jews established more colonies at each crisis, launched new industries, and on 2 separate critical ocasions opened the Hebrew University and Research Institute. Thus they enlarged their real interest as well as applying for ratification of legal and political rights to national and international bodies.

The L.P.P. Club of Dawson was host last night to Mr. Michael Buhay, City Councillor of Montreal since 1942, and one of the most important members of the L.P.P. Party in Canada. Mr. Buhay delivered an adress outlining the aims of the Communist party in Canada.

During the course of his address, Mr. Buhay said that "the future belongs to the young, but they must understand the struggles in society, and the possibilities of changing things for the better." After the speech, he answered questions from the floor.

In an interview with the Daily after the lecture, Mr. Buhay was questioned on his opinion of political clubs in colleges and universities. He answered that he "thought them very desirable and that since the colleges and universities were to produce the great thinkers of the future, political problems should not be taboo, for there will be no greater opportunity to become familiar with them." When questioned about the coming election in the Cartier district of Montreal, Mr. Buhay announced that there is to be a nomination this coming Friday night in Baron Byng High School, and that he himself expects to be nominated. If this occurs, he will "bow to the will of the people."

Mr. Buhay was born in England, and came to Canada 34 years ago. He was very active in English trade unions during his youth, and has done a great deal of work in Canadian unions, particularly in the garment industry, since his arrival here. It will be remembered that he addressed McGill students last year on the housing issue in Montreal.

Parliament Called for At Varsity

By the Canadian University Press

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Spokesmen for University of Toronto campus organizations Monday called for a Students' Administrative Council.

At a public meeting of the SAC's Constitution Commission briefs were presented suggesting (1) A student executive body responsible to a student legislature elected on a proportional basis. (2) Student representation of the University Caput, the highest disciplinary body. (3) Student control over student discipline with the Caput as a final "court of appeal."

Several campus clubs submitted briefs, many of these declaring that a student legislature was essential to provide training in the procedures of a democratic form of government. All of them asked for more than 50 members for the parliament. Other suggestions included one that the student body be given more control over athletics in the University.

The chief complaint was that in the present system some officials had too much control, while the SAC as a whole tended to represent college executives rather than the members of the university.

Hugh Lynch Band to Play In Gym Sat.

The Athletics Festival III originally scheduled for this Saturday night has been called off due to the close proximity of the last and next festivals. However to prevent disappointing those who had made dates for the dance, a committee has been formed which will present Hugh Lynch and his orchestra at the gym from 9-12 p.m.

The group, headed by Bob Forrest, announced last night that the original program will be carried out prior to the dance. There will be a squash tournament against Yale while the McGill badminton and fencing teams meet Queen's. The highlight of the evening will be a gymnastic competition.

Immediately after the sporting end of the evening the orchestra will take over and provide music until the curfew hour which is midnight when like Cinderella all McGill students must leave.

The tickets for the evening will be available at the door. The price will be 50 cents, plus a coupon from the Athletics book. In lieu of coupons, outsiders must provide an extra quarter in purchasing a ticket. It is the aim of the committee to make the evening a more than adequate remedy for the lack of a Festival.

Peterson Rantings

By Stan Habermann

(To McGill via Dawson by Pony Express)

In September '46 McGill principal F. Cyril Jafes, in collaboration with the Department of Veterans Affairs acquired, as a residence for McGill's married students, six barracks formerly occupied by the R.C.A.F. at Lachine. F. Kenneth Hare, McGill assistant professor of Geography, was nominated warden and upon the arrival of first resident W. Brannan, the Peterson Residence was officially opened. Mr. Brannan, incidentally was doing his third year of study which will lead to the Ph.D. degree in Physics.

Among the three hundred people who aer now residing at Peterson are students and their families from such varied points as France, Great Britain, South Africa, Australia, the United States and from all the Canadian provinces. Our prominent faculties of Medicine, Mining Engineering and our Geology. eDpartment were the attraction, they themselves claim that brought many of Peterson's foreign students to McGill.

One of the features of the Peterson residence, if it can be called a feature, is the almost complete silence in the buildings after 8 p.m. Nowhere in the world, is there a student residence which is so much devoted to scolastic effort and nowhere have students succeeded so well in suppressing their Baccahlian instincts.

In the evenings, nothing can be heard except the occasional grunt of Daddy struggling with his analytical geometry.

Most of Peterson's sixty children have learned that the appearance of the slide rule, note books, or Plato means that bedtime has arrived, and they cooperate in keeping the silence complete.

A regular bus service is operating between the Peterson Residence and the university which enables upperclassmen to arrive at lectures promptly. However, for Dawson students life is not that simple. Four buses and two trains must be mounted daily by those unfortunates who attend lectures at St. Johns. Dagwood-like figures are seen gulping coffee in the mess hall each morning and then racing down the frozen road to the 24th Ave., Lachine bus stop where the journey begins.

Among the C.P.R. employees at Montreal West, Petersonians have established for themselves an Olympian notoriety. Never have such fleet footed and daring train chasers been seen CPR men report. Even after five months the station porter still gapes as a half dressed student with motes flying speeds down the icy platform and is hauled aboard the 9:02, at St. Johns, a little blue bus will bounce on to Dawson in time for a ten o'clock.

Domestic problems and suggestions for the improvement of Peterson are brought before the warden by a democratically elected housing committee. The committee, headed by E. J. Blake comprises two members from each building. Due to the splendid cooperation between the residents and committee and between the committee and the warden it has been unnecessary to establish any set of stringent, burdensome regulations at Peterson.

Peterson students' health is the concern of Dr. L. Steeves, who acts as resident physician. Dr. Steeves, who is also engaged in research work at the university, recently uncovered a case of chicken pox in one of the dormitories. Thanks to his orders for immediate isolation of the child and the subsequent restriction of all other children in the building to their rooms no further cases were discovered.

What happens at Peterson? Of course, there was a fire in one apartment but it was quickly extinguished. One day a snow plow bogged down on the residence's main street and on another occasion three inebriated local rustics wandering in the snow at three a.m., began to serenade the residents. In spite of these periodic thrills, life at Peterson is rather quiet.

However, some effort has been made to organize student activities. A bi-monthly dance is held in the residence's recreation hall and a fine skating rink has been built. Peterson's rec. hall was comfortably furnished by the Student's Council, and houses a small canteen plus billiard and ping-pong tables. The only thing really really lacking in the rec. hial is a combination radio-record player, and perhaps a lending library.

It is hoped that as Peterson expands various cultural clubs will be formed to bring students together and to supplement organized education.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

"What is pure mathematics?" will be the topic at the next meeting of the Mathematics Club. The speaker will be Rev. R. E. O'Connor, S.J., mathematics instructor at Loyola College. The meeting will be held on Wednesday, February 12, at 5 p.m. in Room 37 of the Engineering Building.
